Marlborough, Mass. – April 27, 2009 – CPS Heating & Cooling, a full-service heating, ventilation and air conditioning (HVAC) company, today announced it has received the 2008 Small Business of the Year Award from the Marlborough Regional Chamber of Commerce (MRCC). Honored at the MRCC’s Annual Business Awards Dinner on March 5, 2009, CPS was commended for its high business standards, its active support of Chamber programs, and its dedication to improving quality of life in the greater Marlborough community.

“CPS Heating & Cooling has become a trusted name in the region, not only because of 18 years of providing exceptional products and services, but also because of its generous contributions to the community,” states Susanne Morreale-Leeber, president and CEO, Marlborough Regional Chamber of Commerce. “Owners Phil Baldwin and Charlene Allain set excellent examples as business operators by dedicating themselves to providing superior customer service, building an expert and friendly team, and improving and growing their business. It is with great pleasure we bestow the 2008 Small Business of the Year Award to CPS Cooling and Heating.”

“We’ve made it our mission to provide high-quality products and installations and to meet or exceed our customers’ expectations,” states Phil Baldwin, co-owner of CPS Heating & Cooling. “We view ourselves as a customer service company that just happens to do HVAC work, which makes this recognition from the Chamber of Commerce more meaningful.”

Each year, the Marlborough Regional Chamber of Commerce honors local businesses and professionals with awards recognizing accomplishments during the previous calendar year. The recipients are selected from nominations submitted by the Chamber’s members. The other annual business awards include the Business of the Year, Business Person of the Year, Marlborough Pride, Marlborough Spirit, and the Green Award.
